

False Flag Operations, From Imperial Rome to the 21st Century.

The term false flag, originally was a navel term which referred to a warship carrying out an attack while flying the flag of another nation. Later, the term was applied to non navel attacks, including retroactively to attacks which had occurred long before. Over the years, the false flag operation has evolved from an obscure navel technique to a key part of the political process. False flag attacks are used to influence public opinion, pass laws, and start wars. It is safe to say that the world as we know it today could not exist without false flag operations. Since false flag operations have so fundamentally shaped our society, it behooves us to familiarize ourselves with them. Indeed, I would go so far as to say that we have a civic duty to familiarize ourselves with them.

One of the earliest incidents that I know of which has had the label “false flag” attached to it occurred nearly 2000 years ago, in Imperial Rome. Fire broke out on the night of July 19, in 64 AD, and destroyed much of the city of Rome. The Emperor Nero, is said to have blamed the fire on the Christians, but many Romans believed that Nero had the fire set himself, in order to gain the opportunity to expand his estate, and to rebuild the city according to his liking.

The burning of the Reichstag. On the 27th of February, 1933, The Reichstag (German Parliament building) burned. This was four weeks after Adolf Hitler had been sworn in as Chancellor of Germany. Hitler’s government blamed a Dutch communist by the name of Marinus van der Lubbe. Many people believe that the fire was set by the Nazi’s themselves.

Operation Himmler. At the end of August, in 1939, the German government carried out Operation Himmler, a false flag operation which included a number of attacks that were carried out by undercover German forces against German targets along the Polish frontier. The undercover German forces killed prisoners, dressed them in Polish uniforms, shot them, and left their bodies behind as they retreated from the scene of an attack. Hitler blamed these attacks on Poland, and on September first, German forces invaded Poland. The attack which we know the most about is the Gleiwitz incident, an attack against a German radio station named Sender Gleiwitz, which occurred on the night of August 31st. At the Nuremberg trials, Sturmbannführer Alfred Naujocks described how he and his men carried out the attack. They seized the radio station and broadcast an anti German message. They left behind the bodies of concentration camp prisoners who had been killed by lethal injection, dressed on Polish Army uniforms, and shot. Select members of the press were then invited to view the scene of the attack.

Operation Susannah. In the summer of 1954 Israeli intelligence operatives carried out Operation Susannah, (later known as the Lavon affair) a false flag operation aimed at British and American interests in Egypt. People in the Israeli government were concerned that Americans in Egypt would influence the British to withdraw their forces from Egypt, which the Israelis did not want because they feared that it would lead to a truly independent and hostile Egypt. The Israelis hoped that the British and Americans would think that the attacks had been carried out by Arabs. The Israelis hoped that the Americans would withdraw from Egypt, while the British would leave their forces in Egypt to put down the violence. The operation was overseen by the Israeli agent Avri Elad (Avraham Seidenberg) and local Egyptian Jews were recruited to carry it out. Several bombings were carried out in July of 1954 but no one was killed or injured in any of the bombings. The bombers were, however, caught by the Egyptian government and the operation was a flop. Two of the plotters were sentenced to be hanged, and several others received lengthy prison sentences. Avri Elad was later caught by the Israeli government trying to sell Israeli secrets to the Egyptians and was imprisoned in Israel. After his release he emigrated to Los Angeles. Mossad chief Isser Harel later claimed that Avri Elad had been an Egyptian double agent.

Gladio. During World War II, the allies prepared for the possibility of a German victory by establishing “stay behind” units which would engage in guerilla warfare against the Germans in the event of a German victory. After the war these units were not disbanded, instead, they were repurposed as a secret guerilla army which would fight the Soviets in the event of a successful Soviet invasion. Each country had its own code name for the secret forces. In Italy the code name for the secret Italian forces was Gladio, named after the double edged sword once used by gladiators in the Coliseum. After the founding of NATO, these secret units were incorporated into NATO’s departments of clandestine warfare. Eventually, all of the secret units came to be known by the term Gladio. In the nineteen sixties Italy had a large communist movement which alarmed NATO. It was decided to activate the Gladio units and have them carry out attacks posing as communists and anarchists. Hundreds of people were killed in these false flag attacks all across Europe, many of them in Italy. The Italian communist party was discredited and became politically irrelevant. Communists, socialists, and anarchists were discredited all across Europe and the huge military expenditures for NATO were justified. For More information on the subject read Gladio, by Richard Cottrell.

Operation Northwoods. In 1962 the United States military developed a plan for a false flag operation code named “Operation Northwoods.” the plan called for carrying out real or simulated attacks against Americans and pro American Cubans and blaming the attacks on the Cuban government. The attacks would then be used to justify an attack on Cuba. The plan was presented to President John F. Kennedy, but he rejected it.

The Assassination of President John F. Kennedy. On November 22, 1963, President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas Texas. Lee Harvey Oswald was blamed for the murder but never charged. As I recall, The only person actually charged with the murder was a CIA agent named Clay Shaw. New Orleans district attorney Jim Garrison investigated David Ferrie, but Mr. Ferrie died before he could be charged. One former CIA agent told me that “the Cuban CIA killed Kennedy because he didn’t back them up at the Bay of Pigs.” I believe that he meant Cuban elements within the American CIA, i.e, Miami Cubans. It appears that Oswald was not involved in the murder of JFK. It appears that various parties were involved in the planning and execution of the plot to kill Kennedy, and that Oswald was blamed for the murder. Because of this I feel that the assassination of JFK qualifies as a false flag operation. For more information read On the Trail of the Assassins, by Jim Garrison.

The Gulf of Tonkin incident(s). The Gulf of Tonkin incidents are alleged to have occurred in early August of 1964 and were used as justification for carrying out attacks against North Vietnam and generally enlarging the scope of the Vietnam war. The Gulf of Tonkin incidents may have constituted a false flag operation.

The assassination of Martin Luther King. King was assassinated in Memphis Tennessee on April 4, 1968. Although James Earl Ray was convicted of killing King, it appears that King was actually killed by a Memphis Police officer who was part of a wider conspiracy to kill King. For more information read The Plot to Kill King, by William F. Pepper.

The assassination of Robert F. Kennedy. On June 5, 1968, presidential candidate Robert F. Kennedy was mortally wounded at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles California and died 26 hour later. Although Sirhan Sirhan was convicted of murdering Robert Kennedy, Kennedy's son, Robert Kennedy Junior, does not believe that Sirhan Sirhan killed his father.

The 1993 World Trade Center Bombing. The 1993 World Trade center bombing was apparently carried out using explosives provided by an FBI informant and appears to have possibly been a false flag operation although the exact purpose and intended outcome are unclear.

The Oklahoma City bombing. The Oklahoma City bombing was carried out on April 19, 1995 and destroyed the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City, killing at least 168 people. One of the key figures in the bombing was a young woman named Carol Howe, who turned out to be an undercover BATF informant. Her boyfriend, Andreas Carl Strassmeir AKA "Andy the German" another key figure in the bombing, turned out to be a German military intelligence officer on loan to the CIA, which had apparently sublet him to the FBI which was running him undercover as head of security at Elohim City, a white nationalist religious community tied to the bombing. The operation may have been a false flag operation or perhaps a sting gone awry. For more information read The Secret Life of Bill Clinton by Ambrose Evans-Pritchard.

The Russian apartment bombings. In August of 1999 Vladimir Putin was appointed acting Prime Minister of the Government of the Russian Federation by President Boris Yeltsin. In September of that same year (1999) Russia was rocked by a series of apartment bombings which killed some three hundred people, many of them while they slept. The Russian government blamed the Chechens and launched an attack on Chechnya. Putin oversaw the invasion of Chechnya, and on December 31, 1999, Yeltsin resigned, making Putin acting President of the Russian Federation. On March 26, 2000, Vladimir Putin was elected to a 4 year term as president of the Russian Federation with 53% of the vote. Prior to being appointed acting prime minister Putin was not well known in Russian, but several factors combined to make possible Putin's meteoric rise to power. One was being appointed acting Prime Minister by Yeltsin, and then assuming the Presidency after Yeltsin's resignation. Another was the effect of the apartment bombings combined with Putin's hard line against the Chechens. Although Putin's allies blamed the apartment bombings on the Chechens, the Chechens did not benefit from the bombings; unlike Putin who rode the shock wave from the bombings into the political stratosphere. There were also several problems with the Russian government's explanation of the bombings. For one, Gennady Seleznyov, the Speaker of the Duma had announced one of the bombings before it occurred. When another Duma member publicly asked him about it on the Parliament floor, Seleznyov did not answer, but the questioner's microphone went dead.

Another key event occurred (after several bombings had already taken place) in the city of Ryazan some 120 miles south of Moscow.

"Amid the state of hypervigilance that had seized the nation, several residents of 14/16 Novosyolov Street in Ryazan took notice when a white Zhiguli sedan pulled up to park beside their apartment building on the evening of September 22. They became downright panicked when they observed two men removing several large sacks from the car's trunk and carrying them into the basement before speeding away. Residents called the police.

Discovered in the basement were three 110-pound white sacks wired to a detonator and explosive timer. As police quickly evacuated the building, the local FSB explosives expert was called in to defuse the detonator; he determined that the sacks contained RDX, an explosive powerful enough to have brought the entire apartment building down. In the meantime, roadblocks were established on all roads out of Ryazan, and a massive manhunt for the Zhiguli and its occupants got underway.

By the following afternoon, word of the incident in Ryazan had spread across Russia. Prime Minister Putin congratulated the residents on their vigilance, while the interior minister lauded recent improvements by the security forces, "such as the foiling of the attempt to blowup the apartment building in Ryazan."

There the matter may well have ended, except that same night two of the suspects in Ryazan were apprehended. To the local authorities' astonishment, both produced FSB identification cards. A short time later, a call came down from FSB headquarters in Moscow that the two were to be released. The following morning, FSB director Patrushev appeared on television to report a wholly new version of events in Ryazan. Rather than an aborted terrorist attack, he explained, the incident at 14/16 Novosyolov Street had actually been an FSB "training exercise" to test the public's alertness. Further, he said, the sacks in the basement had contained not explosives, but rather common household sugar." Scott Anderson, None Dare Call it Conspiracy March 31, 2017.

Nine Eleven. The attacks of September 11, 2001 have been referred to as "the mother of all false flag attacks." In 1997, William Kristol and Robert Kagan founded the Project for the New American Century, (PNAC) PNAC has been labeled a "neoconservative think tank." PNAC was established as a nonprofit educational organization and focused on United States foreign policy. PNAC's stated goal was to "promote American global leadership." "Of the twenty-five people who signed PNAC's founding statement of principles, ten went on to serve in the administration of U.S. President George W. Bush, including Dick Cheney, Donald Rumsfeld, and Paul Wolfowitz” Wikipedia, Project for the New American Century. “In 1998, Kristol and Kagan advocated regime change in Iraq throughout the Iraq disarmament process through articles that were published in the New York Times.[22][23] Following perceived Iraqi unwillingness to co-operate with UN weapons inspections, core members of the PNAC including Richard Perle, Paul Wolfowitz, R. James Woolsey, Elliot Abrams, Donald Rumsfeld, Robert Zoellick, and John Bolton were among the signatories of an open letter initiated by the PNAC to President Bill Clinton calling for the removal of Saddam Hussein.” Wikipedia, Project for the New American Century. “One of the PNAC’s most influential publications was a 90-page report titled Rebuilding America’s Defenses: Strategies, Forces, and Resources For a New Century. Citing the PNAC’s 1997 Statement of Principles, Rebuilding America’s Defenses asserted that the United States should “seek to preserve and extend its position of global leadership” by “maintaining the preeminence of U.S. military forces.”[45] The report’s primary author was Thomas Donnelly who began living as a transwoman in October 2018, taking the name Giselle. Donald Kagan and Gary Schmitt are credited as project chairmen. It also lists the names of 27 other participants who contributed papers or attended meetings related to the production of the report, six of whom subsequently assumed key defense and foreign policy positions in the Bush administration.” Wikipedia, Project for the New American Century. One of the documents key statements reads “Further, the process of transformation, even if it brings revolutionary change, is likely to be a long one, absent some catastrophic and catalyzing event – like a new Pearl Harbor.” Wikipedia, Project for the New American Century.

Just such a “catastrophic and catalyzing event.” occurred on September 11, 2001.

In the government/corporate media version of the events of that day, a Boeing 767-223ER registration number N334AA, flying as American Airline Flight 11, out of Logan International Airport in Boston Massachusetts and en route to Los Angeles, crashed into the north face of the North Tower of the World Trade Center (1 WTC) at 08:46:40 local time. At 9:03 am (local time) a Boeing 767-200, registration number N612UA flying as United Airlines Flight 175 out Logan International Airport in Boston Massachusetts and en route to Los Angeles, struck the south face of the South Tower (2WTC) of the World Trade Center. At 9:37 am (local time) a Boeing 757 aircraft, registration number N644AA, flying out of Dulles International Airport as American Airlines Flight 77 en route to Los Angeles, crashed into the western side of the Pentagon in Arlington County Virginia. At 9:59 am the South Tower of the World Trade Center collapsed. At 10:03 a.m. a Boeing 757-222 registration number N591UA flying out of Newark International Airport as United Airlines Flight 93 and en route to San Francisco International Airport, crashed into a field near Shanksville, in Somerset County, Pennsylvania. At 10:28 am (local time) the North Tower of the World Trade Center collapsed. At about 5:20 pm (exact time in dispute) Building 7 of the World Trade Center (which had not been struck by an aircraft and appeared relatively undamaged) collapsed.

The government/corporate media promptly blamed Osama Bin Laden for the attack, and claimed the planes had been hijacked by 19 men, 15 from Saudi Arabia, 2 from the United Arab Emirates, 1 from Lebanon, and one from Egypt. The 19 alleged hijackers were said to have been divided into 4 teams.

Mohamed Atta of Egypt, the alleged tactical leader of 9/11 hijacking plot and the pilot for his team, Abdul Aziz al Omari of Saudi Arabia.

Wail al Shehri of Saudi Arabia.

Waleed al Shehri of Saudi Arabia and Satam al Suqami of Saudi Arabia were accused of having hijacked American Airlines Flight 11 and of having flown it into the North Tower of the World Trade Center.

It was claimed that Fayez Banihammad of the United Arab Emirates.

Ahmed al Ghamdi of Saudi Arabia.

Hamza al Ghamdi of Saudi Arabia.

Marwan al Shehhi of United Arab Emirates, the pilot for his team, and Mohand al Shehri of Saudi Arabia had hijacked United Airlines Flight 175 and flown it into the South Tower of the World Trade Center.

Hani Hanjour of Saudi Arabia, alleged pilot.

Nawaf al Hazmi of Saudi Arabia.

Salem al Hazmi of Saudi Arabia.

Khalid al Mihdhar of Saudi Arabia and Majed Moqed of Saudi Arabia were accused of having hijacked American Airlines Flight 77 and of having flown it into the Pentagon.

Saeed al Ghamdi of Saudi Arabia

Ahmad al Haznawi of Saudi Arabia

Ziad Jarrah of Lebanon, pilot, and

Ahmed al Nami of Saudi Arabia were accused of having hijacked United Airlines Flight 93, and of having crashed it into a field near Shanksville in Somerset County Pennsylvania.

The government/corporate media claimed that the 19 men had previously entered that United States and that some of them had trained as pilots at American flight schools. The government also claimed through its media mouthpieces that an undamaged passport was found near the World Trade center belonging to one of the alleged hijackers, although they could not get their story straight on whether the passport belonged to Mohamed Atta or to Satam al-Suqami. In addition, Susan Ginsberg, a staff member of the National Commission on Terrorist attacks upon the United States was quoted as having testified that two passports belonging to the alleged hijackers Ziad Jarrah and Saeed al Ghamdi were found at the alleged crash site of flight 93 in Pennsylvania.

As far as I know, none of the airlines owning the missing 9-11 aircraft have ever released the passenger manifests for the aircraft, however, CNN, and other media outlets published victim lists which did not include any Arab names.

Some background on the World Trade Center buildings During World War II an airplane flew into the Empire State building and lodged in it. The designers of the World Trade Center buildings were aware of this incident and consequently designed the towers to withstand the impact of the largest planes which existed at the time. Most modern high-rise buildings are curtain wall buildings in which the outer walls do not structurally support the building. The World Trade Center Towers 1 and 2 were not curtain wall building; rather, they were an innovative design which was extremely strong. The outer walls were hollow steel tubes with long narrow windows between them. The core of the building was even stronger and consisted of four massive steel columns along which the elevators ran. The floors were made of steel trusses attached to the support columns and covered in concrete. On September 11, 2001, Ace elevator was in the midst of retrofitting the elevators, which gave them access to the main support columns. Ace Elevator was in the midst of installing devices on the elevators which would prevent the elevator doors from opening between floors, thus preventing people from falling down the elevator shafts, but also trapping them inside the elevator, should it stop between floors. Ace Elevator's contract called for Ace personnel to remain on scene and assist in rescue in the event of a disaster, however, on the morning of September 11, 2001, Ace personnel fled the scene and did not assist with rescue operations, which was unfortunate for the people trapped in the elevators which Ace personnel had retrofitted. After the disaster, Ace Elevator filed for bankruptcy.

Anomalies, strange coincidences, and various problems with the official government conspiracy theory explanation of the nine-eleven attacks.

- On the morning of September 11, 2001, the United States military was allegedly engaged in a computerized simulation of an attack on the United States utilizing hijacked civilian aircraft, this allegedly led to confusion and the inability to discern between fact and fiction.
- The passenger manifests for the aircraft concerned were never released by the airlines.
- The names of the alleged hijackers did not appear on the passenger lists released by the corporate media.
- A passport belonging to a hijacker was allegedly found undamaged near the World Trade Center.
- Not a single piece of aircraft wreckage with a serial number tying it to any of the missing aircraft has ever been found at any of the specified crash sites.
- Although flight 93 was alleged to have crashed in an open field, no aircraft wreckage was visible at the scene.
- No aircraft wreckage was visible at the Pentagon.
- No aircraft wreckage was visible at the World Trade Center.
- Flight 93 and flight 175 both continued to communicate using the ACARS system after the time when they were alleged to have crashed.
- None of the missing aircraft were delisted from the aircraft registry within 24 hours as federal law allegedly required. Some of the aircraft were not delisted for years.
- Some of the alleged hijackers have come forward to proclaim their innocence.
- Building 7 collapsed at free-fall speed into its own footprint, although it had not been struck by an aircraft and appeared intact.
- Towers 1 and 2 collapsed violently and rapidly although fire had never before caused the collapse of a modern steel frame building.
- Molten steel was allegedly found at the World Trade Center after the catastrophe, although neither jet fuel nor office furnishings burn hot enough to melt steel.

- Thousands of tons of concrete were almost instantaneously pulverized into dust as fine as talcum powder although gravity could not have provided the force to do this.
- Dr. Steven Jones, a physicist at Brigham Young University said that he identified nanothermite (a high tech explosive used for cutting steel) in the dust of the World Trade Center.
- In violation of the law, evidence was rapidly removed from the World Trade Center crime scene and buried in a landfill on Staten Island, while some steel was allegedly shipped to China.
- Unusual trading in the stock of United and American Airlines just before the 9/11 attacks which involved one or more unnamed investors betting that the value of the airline's stock would decline was never properly investigated.

Part II: From false flag attacks to fake attacks.

Sandy Hook. On December 14, 2012 major media outlets reported that twenty children and six adults had been murdered at Sandy Hook Elementary School at 12 Dickinson Drive in the Sandy Hook section of Newtown Connecticut. Initially, I was too busy with finals to investigate. Once I finished my finals about a week or two later I launched an investigation and what I found (and what I didn't find) blew my mind. Initially, the perpetrator was identified as Ryan Lanza who was in New Jersey where he lived. When he proclaimed his innocence, the major media outlets claimed that his brother, Adam Lanza was the perpetrator. Further, it was claimed that Adam Lanza had killed his mother, Nancy Lanza at their home before using her car to travel several miles to Sandy Hook Elementary School, where he was alleged to have carried out a massacre of students and staff. The victims were identified as:

Charlotte Bacon, 6

Daniel Barden, 7

Rachel Davino, 29

Olivia Engel, 6

Josephine Gay, 7

Ana M Marquez-Greene, 6

Dylan Hockley, 6

Dawn Hochsprung, 47

Madeline F. Hsu, 6

Catherine V. Hubbard, 6

Chase Kowalski, 7

Jesse Lewis, 6

James Mattioli, 6

Grace McDonnell, 7

Anne Marie Murphy, 52

Emilie Parker, 6

Jack Pinto, 6

Noah Pozner, 6

Caroline Previdi, 6

Jessica Rekos, 6

Avielle Richman, 6

Lauren Rousseau, 30

Mary Sherlach, 56

Victoria Soto, 27

Benjamin Wheeler, 6

Allison N Wyatt, 6

In addition, Adam Lanza was said to have committed suicide at the scene of the crime.

I watched a wholly bizarre interview with Dr. H. Wayne Carver II, the Connecticut chief medical examiner, in which he could not answer the most basic questions about the victims whom he claimed to have autopsied. I watched another bizarre interview with Robbie Parker, the alleged father of one of the alleged victims. I watched some other strange interviews with some of the other alleged parents of some of the other alleged victims. I watched a peculiar interview with Gene Rosen who claimed to have sheltered six Sandy Hook Elementary students after they fled the school. I found that responding paramedics had not been allowed to enter the school. Instead, they were told to wait at the nearby fire station. While I am on the subject of strange occurrences, I want to note that when I went to put this post together in 2020, and I tried to refresh my memory by looking up information about the incident on the internet, I found that much of the information was no longer available, or at least no longer searchable.

Anomalies, coincidences, and problems with the corporate media/government version of the Sandy Hook incident.

- On December 14, 2012 Connecticut governor Dannel Malloy said, on camera, that he and the lieutenant governor had been spoken to in an attempt that they might be prepared for something like this (Sandy Hook) — apparently before it happened.
- In the days before the Sandy Hook incident various websites allegedly began soliciting money for the Sandy Hook victims.
- A drill similar to the Sandy Hook incident was going on at a nearby school near the time and date of the Sandy Hook incident.
- The identity of the alleged perpetrator was changed from Ryan Lanza to Adam Lanza.
- The main (alleged) photograph of Adam Lanza released by the corporate media did not appear to display a person with normal human proportions and appeared to be photo-shopped.
- I could not find much evidence that Ryan Lanza had a brother named Adam, although the social security death index allegedly showed that Adam Lanza had died on December 13, 2012, the day before the Sandy Hook incident
- I could find very little information about Ryan Lanza's mother, Nancy Lanza, and her whole family was poorly documented and mysterious.
- The description of the alleged murder weapon(s) kept changing.
- A prowler was arrested near the school at the time of the Sandy hook incident, but very little information about him was released and he soon vanished.
- Dr. H. Wayne Carver II, the Connecticut chief medical examiner could not answer basic questions about the bodies of the victims he claimed to have autopsied.
- Responding paramedics were not allowed to enter the school building.

- I couldn't find any evidence of blood at the scene of the crime.
- I couldn't find any evidence of dead bodies at the scene of the crime.
- I couldn't find death certificates for the alleged victims.
- Considering the alleged number of dead, there was a dearth of wounded people.
- According to school safety consultant Wolfgang Halbig, Connecticut law states that only a doctor can declare a person dead, but all the Sandy Hook victims were declared dead within eight minutes, and to this day, the person(s) who declared the victims dead as never been identified.
- The local medivac company was allegedly on standby waiting for a call for their medical evacuation helicopters which never came.
- When Kelley Watt who owned a cleaning company, and knew that blood is considered a bio-hazard and can legally only be cleaned up by licensed bio-hazard professionals, asked "Who received the contract to clean up the blood at Sandy Hook?" Lieutenant J. Paul Vance of the Connecticut State Police allegedly replied "What blood?"
- I could not find evidence of a mass evacuation of the surviving Sandy Hook Elementary students.
- The wayback machine did not appear to show internet usage at Sandy Hook Elementary School after 2008.
- According to school safety consultant Wolfgang Halbig, Cisco, the company with the food service contract to supply Sandy Hook Elementary School with food, had not delivered any food to the school at 12 Dickinson Drive in the 2 weeks preceding the Sandy Hook incident.
- It appeared that at the time of the Sandy Hook incident on December 14, 2012, the building located at 12 Dickinson Drive was not being used as a school.
- The alleged parents of the alleged victims displayed a noticeable lack of grief during interviews.
- Ten of the alleged Sandy Hook victims were allegedly seen singing 'America the Beautiful' in the Sandy Hook Choir at the Super Bowl in January of 2013, some 50 days after the Sandy Hook event.
- In 2014 a photograph of alleged Sandy Hook victim Noah Pozner appeared on a memorial wall for victims of a school massacre in Pakistan.
- Construction workers who participated in the demolition of Sandy Hook Elementary School had to sign a non-disclosure agreement as a condition of employment.
- In 2015 Moon Rock Books published a book titled Nobody Died At Sandy Hook containing a document, bearing the Federal Emergency Management Agency logo and the Department of Homeland Security seal, titled The FEMA Manual for Sandy Hook, subtitle Site Activation Call-Down Drill Exercise Plan [Mass Casualty Drill]. As far as I know, neither the Department of Homeland Security, nor FEMA, nor any other agency of the United States government has ever denied that the document is genuine.
- In 2013 information about the Sandy Hook incident was plentiful and easy to find on the internet but by 2020, when I wrote this article, information about the Sandy Hook incident was scarce and hard to find on the internet.

The Boston Marathon Bombing. On April 15, 2013, news broke of a bombing at the Boston Marathon in Boston Massachusetts. Allegedly, two bombs went off at about 2:49 pm but 12 seconds apart, near the finish line but about 210 yards apart. According to the government/corporate media version of events, the blasts were caused by two pressure-cooker bombs hidden in backpacks. Supposedly, 3 people were killed and at least 264 were injured, including 14, or was it 16? or 17? who lost limbs. Those allegedly killed were named as: Martin Richard, 8, a student at Neighborhood House Charter School in Boston, Krystle Campbell, 29, of Medford, Massachusetts, and Lingzi Lu, a graduate student at Boston University. She was originally from China. Those who allegedly lost limbs either directly in the blast or through amputation due to injuries suffered in the blast, were named by BuzzFeed News as: Heather Abbott, Leo Woolfenden, Celeste Corcoran, Adrienne Haslet-Davis, Erika Brannock, Jeff Bauman, Jessica Kensky, J.P. and Paul Norden, Karen Rand McWatters, Mery Daniel, Marc Fucarile, Patrick Downes, Jessica Kensky, Rebekah Gregory, Paul Norden, Roseann Sdoia, Jane Richard and Steve Woolfenden,

Examination of photographs of those alleged to have been injured in the blasts, appears to reveal injury fraud in at least one case, in that it is evident that what is seen in the photograph is not a recently blast damaged limb. In addition, the blasts themselves did not appear to have been powerful enough to have blown limbs off of people. If I can see from the photographs that injury fraud has occurred, in at least one case, anyone who was actually injured in the blast would also be able to see it, and be outraged. Also, paramedics, doctors, nurses, and police officers would also be able to see that injury fraud had occurred, but so far as I know, none of them have spoken out, nor has anyone been charged with fraud.

In addition, the paramilitary force deployed to capture the alleged perpetrators was so large, well organized, and deployed so quickly, that it must have been prepositioned before the incident, indicating prior knowledge.

There were also other anomalies, but these things are enough, in my opinion, to cause one to conclude that this was likely a false flag operation.
